Todd Family Farms

Potter Valley | Mendocino County

Dan and Alice Todd are 4th generation farmers with 11 acres of Organic Bartlett Pears. In 1977, at the age of 21, Dan began farming Pears in Potter Valley and in 1987 he made the transition to organically farming pears. In 2013, Dan's oldest son Andy returned home to learn the craft of farming and continue the family's legacy.

Todd Family Farms is located 1000 feet above sea level. The hot days and cool nights grow delicious pears. When the fruit stays on the trees longer it develops a higher sugar content and more intense flavor.
