

CALIFORNIA GROWN

Gala apples are the first California apples to market and represent freshness. Enjoy now through September.

Steve Chinchiolo

Ripon | Central Valley

Steve Chinchiolo is a 4th generation apple grower in California's Central Valley. Steve's son Alex works closely with him on their 100 year old family ranch and his other two children Adam and Andrea work primarily with their cider company, Far West Cider..

Steve's advice to consumers, "Talk to your produce manager when shopping for the freshest California produce." California Gala apples are grown less than 85 miles from San Francisco.
